As a leading global supply chain logistics company with strong experience serving customers throughout the United States and Asia, JSI understands the unique complexities of importing goods into China.

Whether you are just starting out importing food goods into China or just want help expanding your current network into new markets, JSI has the capabilities and infrastructure to handle the logistics challenges ahead. JSI Logistics can manage the complexities of importing food products to China, including complete partner management with boutique grocery stores in Shanghai. JSI is familiar with the complex rules and regulations of the landscape, giving you a competitive advantage in this thriving industry. Take advantage of duty and tax free storage in our bonded warehouses, importing, delivery services and trade compliance services.

Sample Import Process Initiation

- JSI receives food samples, photos, and details from US food manufacturer
- JSI coordinates and forwards the info to Chinese supermarkets and import companies
- The Chinese importers place orders
- JSI signs a logistics contract with US supplier, and helps the importer sign a purchase order with US supplier. Then JSI will set up the logistics, importing process, warehouse space, and delivery service for the orders.
