As LED technology creates a migration away from traditional lighting, JSI is working to help optimize the supply chains of LED designers, manufacturers and distributors throughout the world. JSI's global logistics solutions provide an effective way to minimize overall costs, increase the end-to-end visibility in your supply chain, and reduce customer delivery time, leading to an increase in your bottom line and end customer satisfaction.

JSI is strategically located throughout the world and offers a wide array of services that maximize the value of your supply chain. At JSI, we consider ourselves a direct extension of your company and we believe the core of a successful supply chain logistics program is providing an infrastructure to support operational excellence and industry best practices. JSI goes above and beyond the ordinary to build long term partnerships and develop customized programs to meet your exact needs.
